ALWAYS SOURCE OF WEAKNESS.
Pretense Deceals from the Power to Accomplish.
There is nothing which will add so much to one's power as the consciousness of being absolutely sincere, genuine. If you live a perpetual lie, if you are conscious that you are not what you pretend to be—that you are really a different person from what the world regards you—you are not strong.
There is a restraint, a perpetual fighting against the truth going on within you, a struggle which saps your energy and warps your conduct. If there is a mote at the bottom of your eye you cannot look the world squarely in the face.
Your vision is not clear. Everybody sees that you are not transparent. There is a cloudiness, a haze about your character, which raises the interrogation point where you go. Character alone is strength, deceit is weakness, sham and shoddy are powerless, and only the genuine and the true are worth while.—Exchange.
Blessings of Idleness.
Perpetual devotion to what a man calls his business is only to be sustained by perpetual neglect of many other things. And it is not by any means certain that a man's business is the most important thing he has to do. To an impartial estimate it will seem clear that many of the wisest, most beneficent parts that are to be played upon the theater of life are filled by gratuitous performers, and pass among the world at large as phases of idleness. For in that theater not only the working gentlemen, singing chambermaids and diligent fiddlers in the orchestra, but those who look on and clap their hands from the benches, do really play a part and fill important offices toward the general result.—Robert Louis Stevenson.
"The Devil and the Deep Sea."
Hazlitt's "English Proverbs" gives the proverb as "Betwixt the devil and the deep sea," and quotes it from Clarke's "Paroemiologia," 1639, and adds this note of explanation: "On the horns of a dilemma. In Cornwall they say 'deep' sea, which may be right." Reddall's "Fact, Fancy and Fable" gives the following explanation of the proverb: "This expression is used by Col. Monroe in his 'Expedition with Mackay's Regiment,' printed in London in 1867. The regiment was with the army of Gustavus Adolphus and was engaged in a battle with the Austrians. The Swedish gunners did not elevate their guns sufficiently, and their shot fell among this Scottish regiment, so that 'we were between the devil and the deep sea.'"

A Long Sentence.
The prize for the longest sentence ever written may fairly be awarded to the elder Dumas, who probably holds a further record for fertility of production. In the seventh of the 29 volumes which compose the "Impressions de Voyage," there is a sentence describing Benvenuto Cellini, which fills three pages, or 108 lines, averaging 45 letters apiece. The sentence is broken by 68 commas and 60 semicolons; but as it contains 195 verbs and 122 proper names, the reader is somewhat bewildered before the end is reached.
Wise Men.
Although a wise man is exacting toward himself he does not demand anything of others. He is content with his lot and never complains of heaven. He never blames others for his fate—therefore, when he finds himself in a low state, he submits to fate. An ordinary mortal, seeking earthly bliss, falls into dangers.
When the arrow does not hit the target he who shoots it blames only himself and no one else. Even so does the wise man act.—Confucius.
Too Many for Him.
An American traveling in Germany was much bewildered at the large number of distinct and apparently independent countries through which he went.
Just as he became accustomed to Bavaria, with its blue and white national colors, he would find himself, without warning, in Wurtemberg, where they have an entirely different king, and entirely different military uniforms, and a strikingly different dialect. Then a few hours' ride on a train whisked him into Saxony, and then it was Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and then Saxe-Weimar, and then Baden, and then Hesse Darmstadt. At last he threw up his hands in despair.
"Where are we now?" he inquired.
"Frankfurt-on-the-Main."
"Who is the local duke?" he asked, wearily.

He Was the Limit.
A number of congressmen were talking of the smooth characters that appear in Washington in support of certain legislation. Reference was made to a lobbyist who had the reputation of being one of the "slickest" that ever visited the capital, when some one asked a prominent southern congressman whether the lobbyist was indeed as clever as he had been represented.
"Why, gentleman," replied the congressman, "that man could hear a postage stamp drop into a waste basket!"
The 14th Their Unlucky Day.
Superstitions of the sea should have their edge taken off by the disaster off the coast of Malta last fall. The Sarina was due to sail from the home port on Friday, November 13, a day which was doubly unlucky. It is even difficult to get a sailor to sail on Friday, let alone the 13th of so horrid a month as November. So the men demanded delay—and they sailed on November 14, and came to grief, notwithstanding.

Mr. Bunker—I've walked at least 20 miles playing golf and—
Mrs. Bunker (breaking in)—I don't doubt it, and yet you made an awful fuss this morning when I asked you to step down cellar and bring up a pail of coal for me.
Mr. Bunker—Well, did you imagine I was anxious to tire myself out carrying coal when I knew I had that long walk ahead of me?
Couldn't Oblige.
The small boy approached the box office of the moving picture show.
"Say, mister," he queried, "will you let me in to see the show to-night? I'll pay you to-morrow."
"Can't do it, sonny," replied the man behind the glass window. "This ain't a loan exhibition."
Always Acceptable.
"When I send out manuscripts," said the confident youth, "the editor always finds something he can use."
"I see," answered Miss Cayenne. "What useless stanzas."

CUTTING UP A HIPPOPOTAMUS.
Tough Hide Can Be Relied On to Blunt Many Sharp Knives.
To cut up a hippopotamus is no easy task. In some places the hide is at least two and a half inches thick, and before you have cut through a hand's breadth your knife has completely lost its edge and requires to be resharpened. The head and the feet are put on one side to be preserved as trophies of the chase, while the remainder of the beast is cut into long, thin strips which, after they have been dried by hanging them on the tree branches, will keep good for a very long time. The ivory of the teeth and tusks, which is of very fine quality, used to be employed almost exclusively in the manufacture of false teeth; nowadays it is turned to all the purposes of ordinary ivory.
As for the hide, cut into strips it is made into sticks, which are as good defensive weapons as one could wish to possess. Treated with oil they become as transparent as tortoise shell, and look quite pretty. Out of hippopotamus hide bullock drivers likewise make whips for their whips which are positively everlasting, and fetch relatively speaking, quite a good price.—From "Hunting the Hippopotamus," in the Wide World Magazine.

PHYSICIAN NOT A GREAT HELP
Senator Cameron's Thoughtfulness Met with Poor Reward.

Remarking on the physical disabilities of men who have occupied seats in the senate in his time, the venerable Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire related in the cloakroom the other day a story of Senator Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania.
"It was during Cameron's last term in the senate," said he. "A few of us were asked to visit the battlefield of Gettysburg. Cameron was among the number. The day before we were to start he came to me and said he was not in good condition physically and asked if it would be all right for him to take a physician along. I said certainly. The morning before we were to start I was surprised to see Cameron come to the train holding up a shadow of a man, who turned out to be his physician. It amused me much to see the senator get behind that physician of his and fairly boost him up the train steps. Throughout the journey Cameron was busy taking care of this physician he had brought along."—Boston Transcript.

Kissing.
Kissing, which has become so common a thing in this day, was not done at all in public in my young days," said an ancient dame as she witnessed two women embrace each other at the Grand Central station when they met and again when they parted and said "Good-by."
"I cannot remember when it first began to be; I only remember a time when such a thing would have been thought unseemly.
"Except at children's parties, when we played the game of 'Pillows and Keys,' I never saw kissing. It simply wasn't the custom of the people then. I suppose it must have been the influence of the Puritan ancestry of so many of that day. The practice has crept in from Europe, especially from England, where it is so commonly done. It doesn't indicate any special fondness for the persons embraced; it is merely a form of salutation."

Executor's Sale of Real Estate
By virtue of the power in me vested in the last will and testament of Elizabeth Jennings, deceased, the undersigned, William H. Jennings, the executor of said will, do hereby give notice that I will offer for sale at public sale to the highest bidder on the terms mentioned below at the Court House door in the City of Higginsville, Lafayette County, Mo., on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1909,
between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the following described tracts of land situate and lying in said Lafayette County, Missouri, to-wit: The south half of the north-east quarter of section sixteen (16); the south-east quarter of said section sixteen (16); the east half of the south-west quarter of said section sixteen (16); the north half of the north-east quarter of section twenty-one (21); and the north-east quarter of section twenty-one (21), all being in township forty-nine (49), of range twenty-six (26), and being in all 400 acres of land, which will be subdivided into convenient farms. Terms of sale: One-third cash and the balance in two equal payments payable in one and two years, bearing six per cent interest from the day of sale; interest payable annually, and secured by deed of trust on the property sold, with the option of paying all cash. All sales made subject to the approval of the Probate Court of said county. The cash payment to be made on the day of sale and will be refunded if the sale be not approved by said court.
Given under my hand this 27 day of January, 1909.
WM. H. JENNINGS,
Executor.

Trustee's Sale.

Whereas Charles Q. Kinkaid and Maggie Kinkaid his wife, by their certain deed of trust dated the 21st day of July, 1906, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for Lafayette County, Missouri, in deed book 191 page 126, conveyed to Frank W. Mann, as trustee, the following described real estate situated in the county of Lafayette, State of Missouri, to-wit: Lots One Hundred and Nine (109), One Hundred and Ten (110), One Hundred and Eleven (111), and One Hundred and Twelve (112) in the original Town, now City of Wellington, excepting thirty-five (35) feet off the west ends of the aforesaid described lots, and subject to a prior deed of trust for $3000.00, dated Dec. 14th, 1905, and of record in book 157 page 338. Recorder's office for said county, in trust to secure the payment of a certain promissory note in said deed described, and
Whereas said deed of trust provides that upon default being made in the payment of said note the whole shall become due, and
Whereas default has been made in the payment of said note, now therefore, at the request of the legal holder and owner of said note and by the power vested in me by said deed of trust I will on MONDAY THE 8TH DAY OF MARCH, 1909, at the Court house door in the City of Lexington, Lafayette County, Missouri, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of said day, offer for sale at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash the real estate above described for the purpose of satisfying said debt and costs of executing this trust.
FRANK W. MANN,
Trustee.

Trustee's Sale of Real Estate.

Whereas, William Young and Ada Young, his wife, by their certain deed of trust, dated May 18, 1909, and recorded in the Recorder's office of Lafayette County, Mo., in Book 86 at page 255, conveyed to John E. Ryland, trustee, the following (with another lot since released) lot or parcel of land situate and lying in said Lafayette County, Missouri, to-wit: A part of the northeast quarter of section thirty-four (34), in township fifty-one (51), of range twenty-seven (27), described as follows: Beginning in the south line of South street in the City of Lexington opposite the south end of Locust or 21st street, and 20 feet east of the northeast corner of a lot formerly owned by Dr. Peter Temple, thence south 35 feet, thence east 80 feet, thence north 35 feet, thence west 80 feet to the place of beginning. Which deed was made in trust to secure the payment of two promissory notes in said deed described, and
Whereas the said trustee, John E. Ryland, died December 15, 1908, and it is provided in said deed of trust that in case the trustee therein should die the then acting sheriff of said Lafayette County, Missouri, should succeed and be the trustee therein, vested with all the powers of the original trustee, and Whereas, I the undersigned Charles E. Kinkaid was the sheriff of said county at the time of the death of said Ryland trustee, and said notes remain due and unpaid.
Now therefore at the request of the lawful owner and holder of said notes and in accordance with the provisions of said deed of trust and by virtue of the power in me vested therein, I the undersigned said sheriff as trustee, hereby give notice that I will on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1909,
between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the court house door, in the City of Lexington, in said Lafayette County, Missouri, offer for sale and sell, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash in hand, the lot and parcel of land aforesaid, for the purpose of paying the amount due upon said notes, together with the costs and expenses of said sale.
Given under my hand this 22nd day of January, 1909.
CHAS. E. KINKAID,
Sheriff and Trustee.
